EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

In today's world, people are so engrossed in their day-to-day lives that they are only concerned with fulfilling their responsibilities. They have no time to think of helping others, forming good relations, building a better society and developing their nation.

If we want to usher in real change in a nation, we must first change individual thinking and conduct so that citizens may develop patriotism and national character by thinking of India first. The national character of its citizens plays the most crucial role in building a nation. The national character of its citizens is essential in nation-building, just as the quality of bricks is vital in construction work. A house made of unfired bricks is unsafe because any calamity, even a minor one, can bring it down.

On the other hand, a building made of kiln-fired bricks can be trusted to withstand the onslaught of tempests and floods. Similarly, citizens with a character so tempered that they can be depended upon through thick and thin — like the kiln-fired bricks — build a nation in the long run. On the other hand, building a nation without laying a solid foundation in its individuals is like building sandcastles, which soon crumble away.

People who constantly complain and demand their rights from others gain nothing. Rights cannot be unilaterally demanded and enforced. Francis of Assisi rightly said, "It is in giving that we receive." When people carry out their duties, they will automatically receive their rights, albeit pragmatically. Therefore, they should shift the focus of their efforts from the rights-based approach to the duty-based approach. This standard of ethics is straightforward and natural, and anyone can easily learn it.

Becoming a good human being has nothing ambiguous about it. Its simple formula is: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Known as the golden rule of ethics, this is the highest principle of social ethics. This is a universal teaching found in almost every religion in one verse or another.

Indians should make 'excellence' their goal; they should not accept anything less than striving for excellence. In doing so, not only will they reach great heights of success, but they will also be able to reform society along constructive lines and make India invincible. Actual results can be achieved only through long-term planning and unflagging, dedicated effort. The two great virtues indispensable in the struggle are patience and fortitude. Let us dedicate ourselves to the noble endeavour of advancing our nation by embracing the principle of India-first. This entails prioritising our nation's and its citizens' welfare and interests above all other considerations. — Maulana Wahiduddin Khan in The Times of India

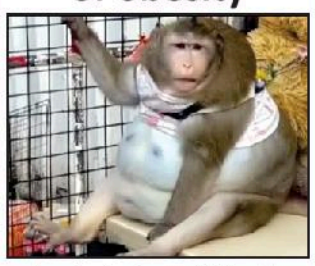
Thailand's fattest Macaque dies of obesity



Bangkok: A morbidly obese macaque named Godzilla, who gorged on treats offered by passers-by in Bangkok, succumbed to weight-related illnesses at the tender age of six.

On May 6, Godzilla breathed his last at the Crystal Pet Hospital in Bangkok as his master held its tiny hand in his. However, the man and his family are facing criticism for killing the young macaque with kindness, indulging his addiction to sweets and other fattening treats, besides turning him into a popular attraction at their market stall. Tourists would pass by the vest-wearing primate and feed him all kinds of junk food, which led to him ballooning to over 19 kilograms, more than double the weight of an average macaque. Sadly, his condition never really improved after he was taken away and a number of obesity-induced illnesses eventually claimed his life.

Woman sentenced for trying to poison husband

Arizona: A woman was recently sentenced to three years probation for trying to poison her husband by mixing bleach in his morning coffee.

Melody Felicano Johnson was initially charged with attempted first-degree murder but ended up pleading guilty to two counts of the lesser felony charge of adding poison or a harmful substance to food or drink. She admitted to putting bleach in her husband's coffee, although it is still unclear as to why.

Her husband told investigators he "believes she was trying to kill him to collect death benefits," but he explicitly told the Court that he did not want her to spend time in prison, which apparently had a major influence on the final verdict.

Mysuru, May 17 (RK&KS)- A woman, identified as Radha (34), wife of Satish and a resident of Bhairaveshwara Nagar at Hebbal in the city, was killed on the spot this morning when a speeding SUV collided with the scooter she was riding in front of the Mysuru Trauma Care Centre on KRS Road.

Radha, who ran a tea shop opposite the Trauma Care Centre, was en route to her shop when the accident occurred at around 6.30 am. She leaves behind her husband Satish and two daughters.

The accident scene was filled with heart-wrenching scenes as Satish, relatives and onlookers wept inconsolably next to Radha's dead body. The family lost a breadwinner.

This morning, according to the Police and family members, Radha was following her usual routine, riding her TVS Jupiter scooter (KA-09-JK-2872) as she left her house.

She entered KRS Road from the Metagalli side and proceeded to take a turn near the Trauma Care Centre to reach her shop on the opposite side. It was at this moment that a speeding Mahindra XUV (KA-51-ME-1661), driven by one Chandra from Yelachenahalli in Bengaluru, approached from the Vontikoppal side and collided with Radha's scooter, resulting in her immediate death.

The impact of the collision caused the speeding SUV to overturn three times before finally coming to a stop and turning turtle. The front portion of the scooter was completely damaged in the accident.

Upon receiving the information, VV Puram Traffic Inspector Banukumari and her team arrived at the scene. They conducted an investigation, registered a case, shifted Radha's body to MMC&RI mortuary and seized both vehicles involved in the accident. Chandra was taken into custody for further questioning.

Tiger carcass found near N. Begur

Mysuru, May 17 (RK&KS)- A highly decomposed carcass of a tiger was found among the bushes near N. Begur, coming under Hediyala Sub-Division limits in Bandipur Tiger Reserve.

The staff of Hediyala Sub-Division, who were on their regular beat on May 15, noticed the decomposed carcass of the tiger, aged about 4 years, near a tamarind tree on Tiger Road. As the body of the tiger was completely decomposed, the gender of the feline could not be established.

It is suspected that the tiger may have died in a fight with another wild animal about 15 days ago. The samples of the tiger have been sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) to ascertain the exact cause of its death. Post-mortem was conducted and the carcass was consigned to flames.

Forest Officers S. Prabhakaran, G. Ravindra, D. Manjunath and B.B. Amrutesh and others were present.

Abetment to suicide: DSS accuses Police of not taking action against accused

Mysuru, May 17 (GA&KS)- Accusing Police of not taking action against those who had forced a girl to commit suicide, Dalita Sangarsha Samithi (DSS) has demanded justice to the family of the deceased girl.

Addressing a press meet at Patrakarthara Bhavan here yesterday, DSS Convenor Choranahalli Shivanna said that M.B. Neha, daughter of Bhanuprakash of Parasayyanahundi in the taluk had died under mysterious circumstances and held a youth from an influential family responsible for Neha committing suicide. Pointing out that though an FIR was registered a few months back, Shivanna accused the Police of not arresting the accused.

Shivanna said that Neha was pursuing her final year engineering course at a private college in city, where the youth Rakesh, who was also studying in the same college became a friend of Neha. Accusing Rakesh of falling in love with Neha and allegedly having physical relationship with her, Shivanna accused Rakesh of deserting Neha and having relationship with another girl. He (Shivanna) then accused Rakesh of harassing her mentally when she questioned him leading to Neha ending her life.

On Jan. 24 last, Neha spoke with Rakesh over the phone during which she had told him that she would commit suicide, Shivanna said and alleged that Rakesh, instead of preventing Neha from ending her life, he provoked Neha to take the extreme step and later he created drama by breaking open the door of the house and shifting the body to the hospital in the presence of another girl, who was with him.

Shivanna alleged that though a complaint with all the points was lodged and several months passed, a FIR was registered only after the Superintendent of Police (SP) intervened but still the accused have not been arrested.

Shivanna demanded the arrested of the accused within a week failing which he warned of staging protest seeking justice to Neha and her family.

Neha's father Bhanuprakash, Kirangur Swamy, Harohalli Nataraju and Alagudu Chandrashekar were present at the press meet.

VOICE OF THE READER

Ward Committees: A brilliant idea

Sir,

This refers to the news item titled 'Establishment of Ward Committees in 10 wards' (SOM dated May 6). This initiative is a brilliant idea. By involving residents directly, they become accountable for the well-being of their respective wards.

It has become apparent that the MCC Commissioner has been unresponsive to the pleas of citizens regarding various issues such as cratered roads, stray cattle, water supply, sewage management, garbage disposal, property tax, cleanliness, hygiene and electricity supply.

Given the current dismal state of our city, it seems that the MCC Commissioner lacks interest or concern for addressing these pressing problems. Therefore, the introduction of Ward Committees, based on the principle of 'by the people, of the people and for the people,' holds great promise for making our city more liveable and clean.

I hope that by promptly appointing ward committees, the MCC Commissioner can pave the way for significant improvements. Perhaps, with such initiatives, our city can climb up the Swachhata ranking in the future.

Mysuru-Bengaluru National Highway-275

Wildlife crossing project halted after 60 percent work

The partially completed overpass spanning 100 metres in length and 20 feet in width at K. Shettahalli village in Srirangapatna Taluk constructed in the wake of leopard kills while crossing the road.

Srirangapatna, May 17 (VK& BCT)- The construction of an animal overpass and underpass to facilitate the safe crossing of wild animals over the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway has come to a grinding halt. A portion of the work has been left incomplete after over 60 percent of the work, posing a significant threat to the wildlife in the region.

During the planning phase of the highway, the potential impact on wildlife was carefully considered, particularly in the forests between Bengaluru and Ramanagara, as well as the wildlife habitat near Srirangapatna, where a consistent movement of wildlife has been observed.

Three places of wildlife movements were identified and among them is the Handigundi Forest near Ramadevara Betta, where leopards were frequently sighted. Another location is the Hulthar Reserve Forest near Bidadi, a part of the elephant corridor linking Bannerghatta to Savandurga. The third wildlife crossing point is the region around K. Shettahalli, near Srirangapatna taluk.

Following this, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) proposed the construction of an animal overpass and an underpass costing Rs. 8.96 crore at K. Shettahalli which the Forest Department approved. Depending on the success of this overpass and underpass, two more sets of overpasses and underpasses were proposed near Ramadevara Betta and Hulthar Reserve Forest near Bidadi.

While 60 percent of the project at K. Shettihalli has been completed, the construction remains unfinished even as the completion of the access-controlled highway with barriers on either side has made it challenging for animals to cross from one side to the other safely.

ANIMAL KILL

Consequently, animals are now attempting to cross the highway directly, putting passing vehicles at risk. There has been a rise in instances of animals colliding with vehicles and sustaining fatal injuries. Animals, including leopards, wild boars and other smaller species, have died while crossing, underscoring the urgent need to expedite the completion of the construction to ensure the safety of both wildlife and commuters on the highway.

The animal crossing project was initiated at the nursery belonging to the Forest Department near K. Shettahalli. The overpass and underpass are located half a kilometre apart. The overpass spans 100 metres in length and is about 20 feet wide, while the underpass measures 30 feet in width and 100 feet in length.

The incomplete underpass built at K. Shettahalli village located half-a-kilometre from the overpass measuring 30 feet in width and 100 feet in length.

The primary objective of these structures was to facilitate the safe movement of various wildlife species, allowing them to cross the road without encountering obstacles.

NHAI's responsibility, says Forest Department

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Mandya, V. Raju, stated that the responsibility for completing the construction of the underpass and overpass to prevent further wildlife casualties lies with the NHAI, not the Forest Department.

"We have communicated about this issue multiple times, but there has been no significant progress. We will escalate the matter to higher authorities," he said.

Conservator of Forests (Mysuru Circle) Dr. Malathi Priya, said, "The completion of construction urgently requires land from the Forest Department. Despite multiple correspondences with NHAI officials, there has been little to no progress."

Forest Department did not grant land, says MP Prathap Simha

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Prathap Simha emphasised that the completion of the project is entirely dependent on the availability of land. "Initially, with good intentions, we initiated the construction of the overpass and underpass to facilitate wildlife movement. However, the Forest Department's failure to allocate the necessary land has led to the project coming to a standstill. This insufficient land allocation has hindered the project's purpose. If the Forest Department allocates the required land promptly, we can swiftly complete the remaining work and ensure the smooth movement of wildlife, thereby alleviating their distress," he said.

NHAI's alternative solution

Construction halted as the Forest Department failed to provide necessary land, said an engineer from NHAI on condition of anonymity. "We require two acres of land. Following due process, it will take at least two years or more of correspondence with the Forest Department to obtain approval. During this time, wildlife will continue to face significant challenges," he explained.

The NHAI even decided to transfer the remaining funds from the Rs. 8.96 crore allocation to the Forest Department, allowing them to take over and complete the construction. "We are ready to transfer the funds so that the Forest Department can complete this much-needed project in the interest of wildlife. But will the Forest Department agree?" the officer questioned.

CWRC rejects Tamil Nadu's plea for Cauvery water

New Delhi, May 17 (DM)- The Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) has rejected Tamil Nadu's plea for release of Cauvery water by Karnataka, on drought grounds.

The CWRC, which met in the National Capital on Thursday, said that Karnataka is facing severe drought and distress and as such it cannot direct Karnataka to release Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu. It directed the Tamil Nadu Government to use natural flow of rain water in Cauvery basin for its crops and other needs. This is perhaps the first time that the CWRC, which earlier used to order Karnataka for release of water this season, has rebuked Tamil Nadu.

The CWRC's rejection comes after Tamil Nadu's plea seeking to release its share of Cauvery water for the months of April and May.

Rs. 11.66 crore C&D waste treatment plant at Sathagalli

The MCC feels that if there is a designated spot to dump Constriction and Demolition (C&D) waste, the public will refrain from indiscriminately dumping construction waste.

One of the significant factors contributing to Mysuru's decline in the All-India Swachh Survekshan rankings is the absence of a construction debris recycling plant. In response to this and other challenges in solid waste management, the MCC has now taken measures to address these issues.

According to a statement released by the MCC Commissioner Dr. N.N. Madhu, strict penalties and legal consequences, including criminal charges, will be imposed on individuals or entities found dumping construction waste outside of the designated CA site 05 Hanchya-Sathagalli 'A Zone'.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, MCC Superintending Engineer Sindhu stated that the C&D plant will be constructed under the Public-Private-Partnership (PPP) model, with tenders scheduled to be issued soon after the conclusion of the Lok Sabha elections and the Model Code of Conduct.

The total project cost amounts to Rs. 11,66,53,000, covering various components. This includes Rs. 4,85,64,960 allocated for civil works, Rs. 93,78,000 for C&D waste collection and transportation vehicles and Rs. 4,34,50,000 earmarked for equipment required for the C&D processing facility.

The plan involves extracting metals from the construction waste for either reuse or sale. Additionally, concrete will be processed to produce M-Sand, which can be utilised in new construction projects.

At present, construction debris is being indiscriminately dumped along both sides of the Ring Road, as well as on the medians, resulting in scattered remnants of bricks, concrete structures and waste-filled plastic sacks.

"Public is urged to dispose of C&D waste exclusively at the designated CA Site 05, situated in Hanchya-Sathagalli 'A Zone'. Dumping debris elsewhere will result in penalties and criminal charges. MCC and Police will conduct joint operations to identify vehicles dumping waste during night time. Any such vehicles will be confiscated and criminal complaints will be filed against their owners," Sindhu added.

MUDA to take up Ballahalli, Bommenahalli Layouts

The meeting, chaired by Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra, who also serves as the Chairman of MUDA, saw this resolution passed. The layout will be formed on a 50:50 ratio basis in partnership with land-owners, who part with their land.

The Ballahalli Layout is near Koorgalli and the MUDA has planned to acquire 484 acres and 28 guntas of land. The State Government approved the project on 30.1.2015 and the 50:50 ratio was decided on 11.2.2015. The project was dropped earlier due to opposition from farmers and landowners.

According to sources within MUDA, many farmers and landowners have consented to transfer their land to MUDA under a 50:50 agreement. Under this arrangement, 50 percent of the developed sites will be allocated free of charge to landowners whose properties have been acquired for the project, while the remaining 50 percent will be retained by MUDA.

Landowners who engage in this joint agreement with MUDA will receive an advance payment of Rs. 10 lakh before the land is acquired, as demanded by the farmers. This proposal has been endorsed by MUDA and has received approval at the Government level. It is noted that this advance sum of Rs. 10 lakh will be taken into account when the landowners' share is decided when the sites are distributed according to the agreed-upon 50:50 ratio, sources added.

In the past, the Ballahalli Layout formation encountered difficulties when 90 percent of farmers demanded that MUDA either abandon the project entirely or provide compensation of Rs. 1.50 crore per acre.

These farmers rejected MUDA's proposed 50:50 formula, arguing that farmers in Chamarajanagar district were receiving compensation of Rs. 1.50 crore per acre, while those in Ballahalli were denied the same amount.

Home Minister calls on family of beheaded girl in Kodagu

Compensation will be paid to deceased Meena's parents after poll code ends

Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwar, Madikeri MLA Dr. Manthar Gowda and others seen with parents of murder victim Meena at Mutlu village in Somwarpet yesterday.

Madikeri, May 17- Days after U.S. Meena, a 16-year-old minor girl, who was brutally beheaded by a man at Mutlu village in Somwarpet taluk of Kodagu district, Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwar visited the residence of the victim yesterday and consoled her parents.

Meena, an SSLC student of Surlabbi Government High School, was brutally beheaded by 33-year-old Prakash, the man who was said to be engaged with the girl in the morning of May 9. The SSLC results were declared the same day and she had passed the exam but unfortunately was killed the same evening. Her mother Janaki too sustained injuries in the assault and was treated at a Hospital in Mysuru.

Speaking to presspersons, Dr. Parameshwar said that preliminary investigation suggests that the girl was killed as the accused got furious over postponement of marriage on the grounds that the girl was a minor.

Maintaining that the Government would not tolerate such brutal acts and has taken the case seriously, he said that a Special Court will be established for speedy trial and the accused will be punished as per Law.

Pointing out that a Special Public Prosecutor too would be appointed for ensuring that the culprit gets the harshest punishment, Dr. Parameshwar said that the girl's family would be paid compensation by the Government once the Model Code of Conduct for the LS polls comes to an end.

Replying to BJP leader and former CM Jagadish Shettar's assertion that Law and Order has collapsed in the State with murders and other heinous acts occurring across Karnataka, the Home Minister said the Congress Government does not need a certificate from Shettar.

Noting that crimes were on the rise during the previous BJP Government too, he said the people would themselves give certificate to the Government.

Replying to a question on investigation into Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna's sleaze videos and pen drives, Dr. Parameshwar, who seemed upset at the question, said that it is not correct to speak about the case here.

Madikeri MLA Dr. Manthar Gowda, Kodagu SP K. Ramarajan, ASP Sundarraj and others were present.
